NILS INDIA BUSINESS LAW REVIEW

EDITORIAL POLICY

The NILS India Business Law Review (NIBLR) seeks to promote outreach of legal scholarship and serve as a platform for free exchange of ideas on legal policies, laws and issues of relevance to world of International Business Laws. The Review is particularly committed to publishing articles from India on the international perspective of commercial laws vis-a-vis the development in India. NIBLR endeavours to publish quality “Articles”, “Notes”, “Comments” or “Book Reviews” from distinguished and diverse authors, including, inter alia, judges, scholars, policy-makers, practitioners and students.

The following is a non-exhaustive subject list outlining the scope of the journal:

- Mergers & Acquisitions and General Corporate laws
- Company, Banking and Finance laws
- Taxation laws
- Anti-trust and Competition laws
- International Trade laws & Dispute Resolution
- Intellectual Property laws

The review will be theme specific to capture the development in depth in a particular area of business laws. In an era of hyper-globalization and steadfast growth of commerce and business, understanding the general laws relating to businesses, both in the private and public law domain, has become paramount. This review is thus an avenue for individuals to become academically committed and legally skilled in the field of commercial laws.

1. Articles

Articles must deal with issues of contemporary interest and relevance and must demonstrate a high-level of analysis. Articles of a purely descriptive nature, unless about a development in a country or a region which may necessarily be of a descriptive nature, are not preferred. Articles should generally be between 8,000- 15,000 words in length. Words below 8,000 will be considered as Notes or Comments for the purpose of publication.

NIBLR will employ open access policy wherein the manuscript will be indexed and peer-reviewed.

2. Notes and Comments

Notes and Comments that capture a recent development in any case-law or legal policy or legislative development in line with the thematic component of the issue of the Law Review are preferred. NIBLR will employ open access policy wherein the manuscript will be indexed and peer-reviewed.

3. Book Review

Suggestions for "Book Reviews" may be sent to the Editors at vp-publications@nilsindia.org

Peer Review Process

All unsolicited manuscripts submitted to be considered for publication in Nils India Business Law Review are subject to double-blind peer review process where the manuscripts may be sent to a referee to understand the relevance, coherence and originality of the manuscript. While employing the Double Blind Peer Review Process, the identity of the author (s) and referee (s) are kept strictly confidential. The submitted manuscripts are reviewed on the following parameters of relevance, coherence, originality, cited sources and citation style, language and content structure.

NIBLR is a biannual journal published in yearly volumes of two issues each. The Law Review will be indexed and archived on the Nils India Website at the following address: <http://www.nilsindia.org/archives.html> in PDF format.

Open Access Policy

All works are available for free and open access as soon as each issue is published. This Review provides immediate open access to its content on the principle that making research freely available to the public supports a greater global exchange of knowledge. TL&D is a signatory to the Budapest Open Access Initiative.

"Open Access", with reference to Trade, Law and Development, is defined by the following characteristics: "free availability on the public internet, permitting any users to read, download, copy, distribute, print, search, or link to the full texts of these articles, crawl them for indexing, pass them as data to software, or use them for any other lawful purpose, without financial, legal, or technical barriers other than those inseparable from gaining access to the internet itself. The only constraint on reproduction and distribution, and the only role for copyright in this domain, should be to give authors control over the integrity of their work, to the maximum permissible extent, and the moral right to be properly acknowledged and cited." (See generally, Budapest Open Access Initiative.)
